FRIDAY MORNING, MAY 11, 1866.

A Candid Statement.

From 1830, in Fayette, Seneca Co., New York, when the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints was organized, until to-day, in 1866, the same spirit of persecution has followed us as a people, at times manifesting itself with greater intensity and bitterness, and occasionally being comparatively lulled as other topics of interest have attracted public attention. It seems strange, at a casual glance, that such should be the case, when the spirit of the age is professedly so liberal, and so much opposed to persecution for conscience' sake. Yet the fact exists, and is so well and widely known that it is beyond dispute.—Deseret News.

We have on different occasions stated frankly and plainly, "there is no persecution of the Mormon people on the part of the Government." We have time and time over proved the assertion from the record. No warfare is made upon Mormonism. No better proof of the assertion is required beyond the statements, that in Illinois there is a large and influential body of Mormons, numbering several thousand souls, living amicably with their neighbors, obeying all laws and in every respect conducting themselves as good citizens. No one interferes with them, yet they believe in the Book of Mormon and the Book of Doctrines and Covenants just the same as the church leaders in Utah profess to believe. Then why should Mormonism in Illinois progress quietly and peaceably, surrounded by an enlightened community and enjoying its confidence and respect, while Mormonism in Utah is subject to so much severe criticism—or to use the words of a very prominent General of the United States Army—"the people of the United States only seek a pretext to wipe out the Mormons, root and branch?" The answer can be found in one single word—POLYGAMY. Now we appeal to our cotemporary if this is not true? The Mormons in Illinois repudiate polygamy—they do not violate the sentiment of the age by indulging in a practice repugnant to every civilized nation of the earth—not only repugnant but punished as a crime,—consequently they live in peace, their religious sentiment is respected and no person interferes with them. On the other hand, the Utah church leaders publicly proclaim and practice polygamy,—in these two acts, placing themselves in direct warfare with the entire civilized world. Is it not so? The nation cares nothing about Mormonism as a religion. We are just as willing for the editor of the News to believe in the Book of Mormon as the Bible—or both if he choose—to think that Mormonism is better than Methodism or any other "ism" just as he chooses; but, we deny, as does every civilized nation of the earth, that polygamy in any portion of a religion, any more than the stuffing of the mouths and nostrils of aged parents and throwing them into the Ganges is a religion. Then here is the issue—and church leaders of Utah are striving to fight it to a full and complete success, while the civilized nations of the earth are determined to overthrow it. So long as the church leaders, representing Mormonism in Utah, persist in the teaching and practice of polygamy, just so long they are certain to encounter the determined opposition and, we may add in truth, hostility of this nation. We think our cotemporary understands this point, just as thoroughly as we do. Sooner or later these church leaders will be compelled to succumb. Their coming destiny is as inexorable as fate. We say this more in sadness than any other feeling. For the people of Utah we have a sincere regard. We entreat them, as ever in the past, not to allow polygamy to entrap them in a position which can only result in future misery and woe unutterable. Cease the practice of polygamy, and Utah Mormons will have no more trouble than the Illinois Mormons. Now is not this a true issue, plainly stated?

What is a Yankee?

Prescott, April 11, 1866.

Editor of Arizona Miner. The question has been asked me three times during the past week what kind of a man I called a Yankee. To answer it for all I enclose my

DEFINITION OF A YANKEE.

As the Yankees are creating no little excitement in the commercial, political and military world, I hope my definition of a real, genuine, male Yankee will not be considered a miss.

A real, genuine Yankee is full of animation, checked by modulation, guided by determination, and supported by education. He has veneration, corrected by toleration, with a love of self-approbation and emulation, and when reduced to a state of aggravation can assume a state of profound dissimulation for the purpose of retaliation, always combined, if possible, with speculation.

A real, live Yankee, just caught (if you can) will be found not deficient in the following qualities: He is self-denying, self-relying, always trying, and into everything prying. He is a lover of piety, propriety, notoriety, and the temperance society.

He is a dragging, gagging, bragging, striving, thriving, swopping, jostling, wrestling, musical, astronomical, poetical, philosophical, and comical sort of a character, whose manifest destiny is to spread civilization to the remotest corner of creation. C. H. N.

[SPECIAL TO THE DAILY UNION VEDETTE.]

CONGRESSIONAL.

SENATE.

Washington, May 5.

In the Senate, Sherman's loan Bill authorizes the Secretary of the Treasury to issue registered coupon bonds in such form and denominations as he may prescribe, payable by interest in coin, and bearing interest not exceeding 5 per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually, to run not exceeding 30 years, disposed of for not less than par, the proceeds to be used exclusively in reducing the obligations or other indebtedness of the United States, except U. S. notes.

Sec. 2 provides that the bonds issued under this act shall be known as the consolidated deposit of the United States and shall be exempt from taxation in any form, by or under State, municipal or other local authority, and that in consideration of the reduced rate the interest shall also be exempt from tax on income derived therefrom.

Sec. 3 requires that the amount of interest saved to the Government shall be applied to the payment of the principal, and that for the purpose of insuring the payment thereof and in lieu of the sinking fund contemplated by the act of Feb. 25th, 1862, the sum of at least thirty millions, including the saving of interest as aid, shall annually be applied to the redemption of the debt.

Sec. 4 requires the holders of 7-30 treasury notes to inform the Secretary, at least six months before the maturity of such notes, whether they desire 5-20 bonds in lieu thereof, and a failure to give such notice will be deemed conclusive that such 7-30's shall be paid in lawful money.

Senator Sherman, in offering the bill, said it contained two propositions likely to excite opposition, namely—The exemption of tax and option of holders of 7-30's. He said a strong feeling grows out of the exemption from State taxation of so large an amount of property, and while the United States bonds bear interest equal to that paid in most States on notes and securities subject to taxation, this feeling in reality will continue to increase. These bonds are now subject to but $600 exemption, and in the resolution proposed will be increased to $1,000, owing to the large amount held abroad which cannot be reached, and the readiness with which the tax is avoided causes it to be more useless than one-tenth of one per cent. on the aggregate debt. This bill, reducing the rate of interest, will save 1-6th per cent. interest, and be found but a trifling loss on income.

Sherman intimated that the saving thus made with a further sum, equal to 3 cents on the dollar, will in thirty-five years wipe out the whole debt, thus in effect paying the debt by the saving of interest.

The second proposition is likely to excite opposition—that which gives option to the holders of 7-30's. This option will compel the Secretary of the Treasury to accumulate vast sums for a contingency that may not happen, and places the mercy of sudden combination when notes mature. To avoid this, the bill requires the common custom and law of giving reasonable notice of no option taken, then it will be held to be a choice of money, and the Secretary will have six months to prepare for it.

Sherman said the bill was approved by the Secretary of the Treasury, and had been partially considered by the Finance Committee. It will be expected that holders of present bonds will not convert them; but fortunately nearly all of our securities will be soon within reach by maturity, and it is the confident belief that this proposition of reducing the rate of interest will be so far an adjustment between the conflicting interest of bond-holder and tax-payer that it will be accepted by both, and thus consolidate in the deposit of the United States all the advantage proposed by the bill. It will be more properly considered when it is reported to the Senate. In the meantime it is but right to submit it to the impartial test of public judgment—everyone who pays taxes or who holds national securities. The bill was referred to the Finance Committee.

GENERAL NEWS.

The New York Times of Thursday says this measure (Loan Bill) was most favorably received yesterday in financial circles, and it is understood as having been shaped to meet the careful consideration of views by Secretary McCulloch. That the measure will be accomplished and favorably acted upon in the National Legislature, we have no reason to doubt. That the bonds for the issue of which it provides can be negotiated at par, we feel well assured. In the present temper of the money market, with the enormous accumulations of idle capital in business centers, and in view of prevailing law, the feasibility of placing consolidated five per cent. long date coin-bearing national securities at not less than par, cannot be questioned. This security is especially designed not to increase but fund the public debt, and prepare for its steady liquidation as such, and with the privileges and immunity accrued to it, it cannot fail to find as eager subscription now.—[communication interrupted by storm on line.]

CONSIDERABLE interest is attached to the recent discovery of rich deposits of auriferous pyrites and gold-bearing quartz above Washington, on the Potomac, near the Great Falls. A stock company has been organized, with a capital of $375,000. A powerful engine for quartz crushing and sublimating the ore is on the ground, the erection of a quartz mill completed, and Cornish miners, under the direction of an engineer, are penetrating the rich ledges of the property. The mint assay of the surface rocks yields $116 per ton of 2,000 pounds. The sulphurets are in excess of that.—American Journal of Mining

THE Secretary of the Interior has prepared a circular addressed to all the mining companies in the gold and silver mining regions of the West, requesting them to present specimens from their mines to all the various fairs. Within two years, it is the opinion of the Secretary, we will thus have at the Patent Office the richest and most varied and instructive cabinet of precious ores that exists anywhere in the world. This measure is introductory to the establishment of a Bureau of Mining and Minerals, which the Western mining interests require.—American Mining Journal

PERFECT integrity and a properly-cooked beefsteak are rare.—Prentice.

From Tumaco to Barbacoas.

George Swinson writes to the Gold Hill News from Barbacoas, New Granada, under date of March 21st, giving an interesting sketch of the country and mines, from which we extract the following:

From Tumaco to Barbacoas the journey is made in canoes, well fixed up with protection against sun and rain. Stoppages are made every night, in some house on the river, and the whole journey, instead of being one of fatigue and hardship, as anticipated, is one of pleasure all the way through.

The cost from Panama to Tumaco, on the steamer, is $20; and in the canoes from there to Barbacoas, $8. The way up to Barbacoas is around some islands, and then up the river Patea—this is made in seven days. Another way is to go up a smaller river, cross an isthmus of about three miles, and come into the Patea—this is made in five days. The baggage is carried over by the natives and negroes for forty cents per one hundred pounds. These men will carry from 200 to 300 pounds on their backs, the weight mostly resting in a sling passing over their heads.

The Patea river is large, much deeper than the Sacramento river, and can be navigated up to Barbacoas, and far above, by any sized river steamer.

Tumaco is a pleasant and thriving little place, beautifully situated among the Islands on the coast. I saw here the coffee, orange, lemon, bread-fruit, cocoa, banana, and a variety of other trees, all growing wild, but luxuriant, within the space of one acre of ground. That the natives are indolent, where Nature so bountifully provides for them, is nothing to be wondered at. Besides these, are plenty of fish a half-mile from the shore, and oyster beds in abundance. The oysters, in size and flavor, are not inferior to any that can be had in New York.

Barbacoas is an unhealthy, filthy place, with narrow streets, laid out in a most primitive manner; and here the mines commence.

San Francisco, May 4.

John H. Mills pleaded guilty to the Russ House robbery this evening. O'Grady pleaded not guilty, and will be tried next month.

A company was incorporated to-day with a capital stock of a hundred thousand dollars for manufacturing and laying down the Nicholson pavement.

A meeting of the Mechanics' Institute was held to-day, at which all difficulties were adjusted, and the committee instructed to proceed with the new building immediately.

John Dewitt, night watchman in the French Hospital, is under arrest for stealing $223, entrusted to his care by one of the directors, to be given to the superintendent. He acknowledged the theft, and says he lost the money at faro.

The Bulletin's Acapulco correspondent confirms the news of the defeat of the French at Samiltepic. The French lost two hundred in prisoners, and all their artillery was cut off from the seashore, and fled back to Pajaca. The Spaniards at Acapulco unanimously resolved to re-export all their goods to a more congenial clime, even though the duties were paid. General Alvarez was making preparations to retake the city, which would be easy, as half of the garrison is on the sick list, and only one man-of-war is in port.

Arrived—Sierra Nevada, from Portland, with 48 passengers and $67,000 in treasure; and ship California, from Boston.

CITY NOMINATIONS.—The Virginia City Union Nominating Convention met at the Court-house, yesterday, and made the following nominations: For Mayor, John Piper; for Recorder, James D Meagher; for Chief of Police, W. S. Edwards; for Assessor, W. H. Young; for Treasurer, G. T. Finn; for Aldermen, I. E. Cramer (First Ward), J. G. Farrington (Second Ward), Jacob Young, (Third Ward), and M. M. Dexter (Fourth Ward). The utmost harmony and good feeling prevailed in the Convention, and a better ticket, as a whole, could scarcely have been selected. Except for the office of Assessor, the nominations were made by acclamation.—Nevada Enterprise, 2d.

UNDERWRITING EXTRAORDINARY.—Who ever thought of a woman underwriting her beauty? Yet a contemporary informs us of such an insurance society in Santa Fe. The plan is stated as follows: "A woman may estimate her personal beauty at whatever price she pleases, and assure at that value, paying a proportionate sum according to the period assured for. The company assures female beauty from the age of 15 to that of 30, paying the assurer a specific sum if her beauty goes off or is accidentally injured during a given time." Who is the Secretary—is he a man? If so, happier than Paris—how pleasantly his office hours must pass reviewing and scheduling the beauties of the applicants! Happier than Paris that there is no competition among them; each lady making her own estimate of the pecuniary value of her charms!—Dramatic Chronicle.

LUCILLE WESTERN, Mlle. Vestvali, Mrs. D. P. Bowers, Miss Maggie Mitchell, Miss Agnes Perry, Mlle. Ponisi, Emma Waller, and other ladies, have written letters to Jules Jared, the French skin enameller, and proprietor of L' Emaile de Paris, indorsing the efficacy of that skin beautifier. In the entire history of cosmetical preparations, this is the first instance of a public indorsement of a skin preparation. What next?

CENTRAL PACIFIC RAILROAD.—The Dutch Flat Enquirer says:

"The iron is being laid down at the rate of a half mile per day, and we have implicit faith that the cars will reach this place on or before the day designated by the Company, to-wit: 20th of May. The forces above this place have received large reinforcements the past month, and the work is being pushed forward with greater rapidity then at any other time in the history of the enterprise."

THE San Francisco Assaying and Refining Company have bought out Kellogg, Hewston & Co. for $200,000.—Fifteen millions are said to have been subscribed by the banks represented by the Trustees for the purchase of bullion and ores.—Revelle.

DR. LIVINGSTON recently stated in a lecture that no less than forty missionaries succumbed to the deadly effects of the climate of Africa before a single conversation took place.

Salt Lake City, May 9, 1866.

Mr. Henry Pooler—

SIR:—Your sample of Iowa Ledge ore, subject to careful assay, contains 31.59 oz. of silver, value $40.83, to the ton of 2000 lbs., with gold traces.

GREATNESS IN NEW YORK CITY.—The New York correspondent of the San Francisco Bulletin says: No matter how celebrated a man becomes in the country, he is soon lost in the city. It is the charnel-house of all greatness not based on the almighty dollar. No matter how great a man may be, there is somebody still greater; no matter how many greenbacks he has, there is somebody with more greenbacks. If he lives in the highest style, some neighbor lives in a double superlative style, most highest. Everybody dwarfs everybody, being surpassed by some other body. As this is the money center of the Western Continent (as Paris and London are of the Eastern) it follows that most sharp men bring up in New York. Each has his plan for the accumulation of a million. Talk of a hundred thousand in these paper money times! None but vulgarians do it. It is easy to talk large figures, as it would be hard to live up to them, if it was not that all transactions were on paper. It is this ambition to keep alive the ghost of wealth, where it is not, that fills our mammoth hotels.—The first question asked is, "where do you stop?" Livary men purchase magnificent equipages, and rent them, at high prices, to people who come to town to exhibit their wealth. These are kept as private carriages, with Patrick, Quashee or Gumbo, tricked out in servant's livery, a la mode, to set off turn-outs as the showman's own.—The world is full of shams and shoddies. Speculators have captured us all. This week they toss up wood; next, flour, corn and other cereals; next, clothing.
